SpeakSee

Microphone Kit

Speaksee captures the speech in conversations and transcribes it into text on a smartphone, in real time. This way people with hearing loss can read what's being said.

Using an array of sensors, each microphone intelligently isolates and captures speech from the user and rejects noise from other sources. The system supports up to 9 microphones at a time. What makes this system even more powerful is that it captions each person's speech and color codes the text to easily identify which person is speaking.
